The student at Walnut Hills is given the opportunity to study many different subjects with the hope that he can find a field of study which will be of lasting interest to him. He is also given the opportunity to participate in various co-curricular activities, as well as athletics. The idea of being a well-rounded person is by no means a new one. It dates back to the ancient Greeks and Romans. It should be the goal of each student to try his best to attain the classic ideal of . . .

Nelen - it really was a fun thing in my life. I suppose it's a little bit of a memory of a time of our lives.

We are attempting in this year's REMEMBRANCER to familiarize you with some of the greatest thinkers of the classical world. It is interesting to note that although times have changed a great deal, the philosophies of these men still hold true.

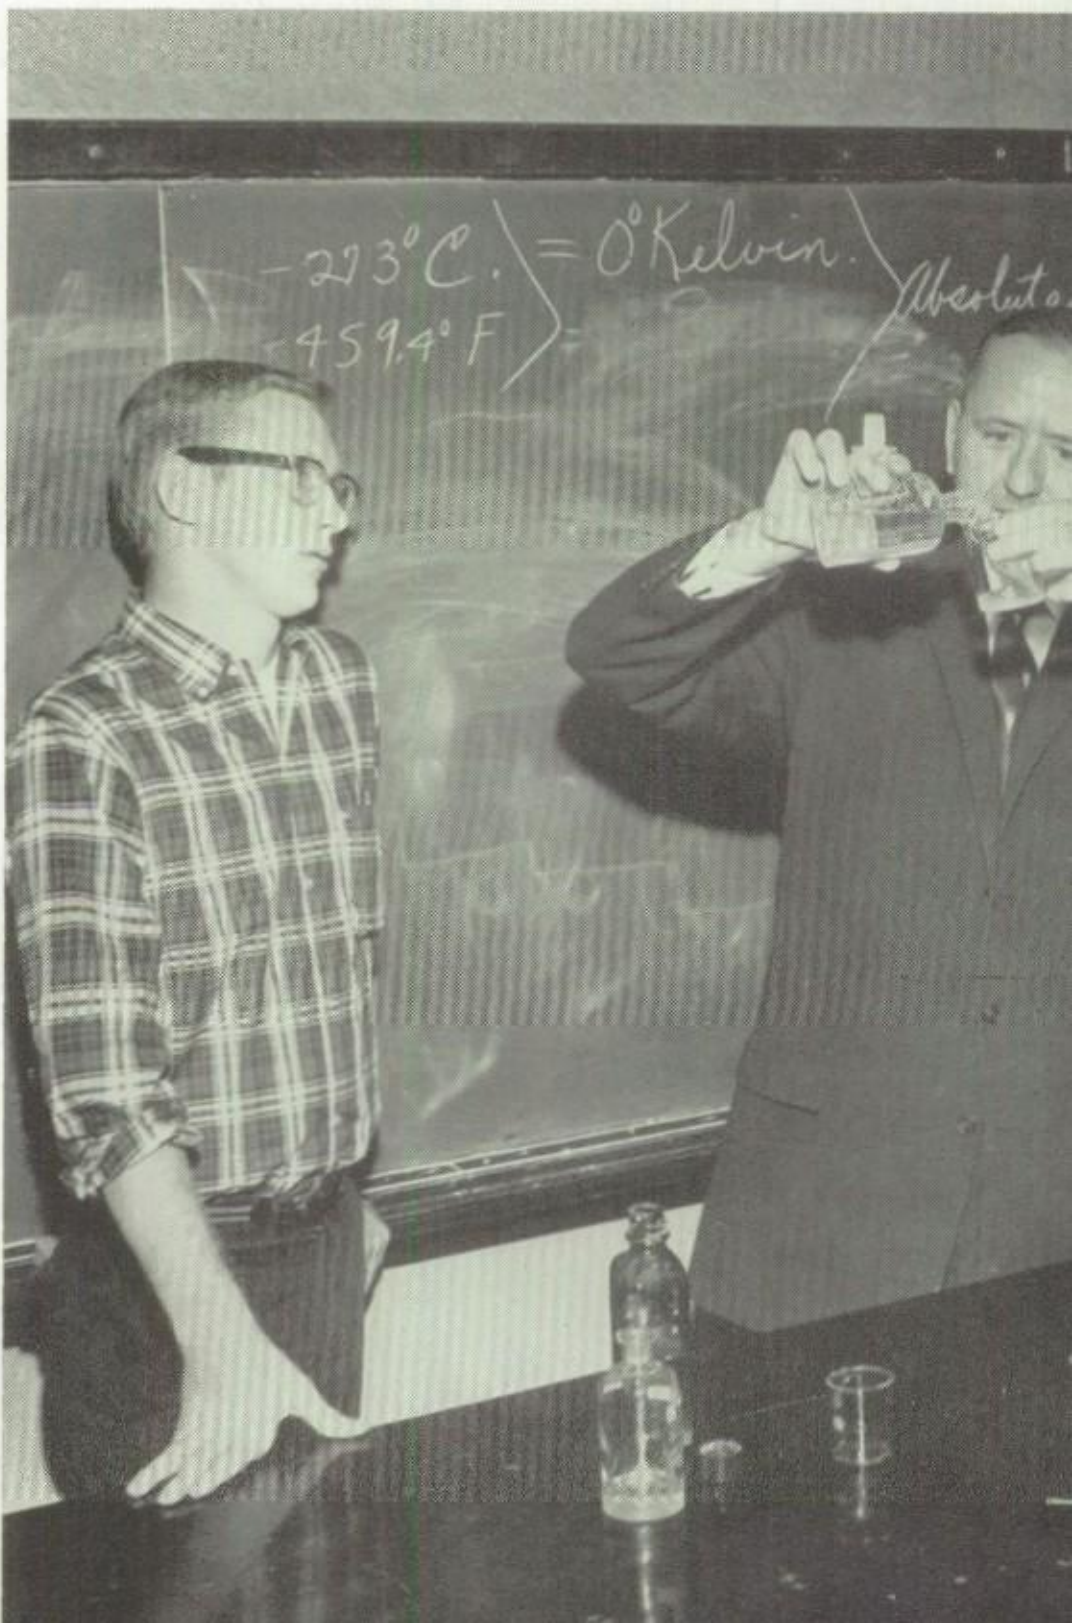

Sound Mind and a Sound Body

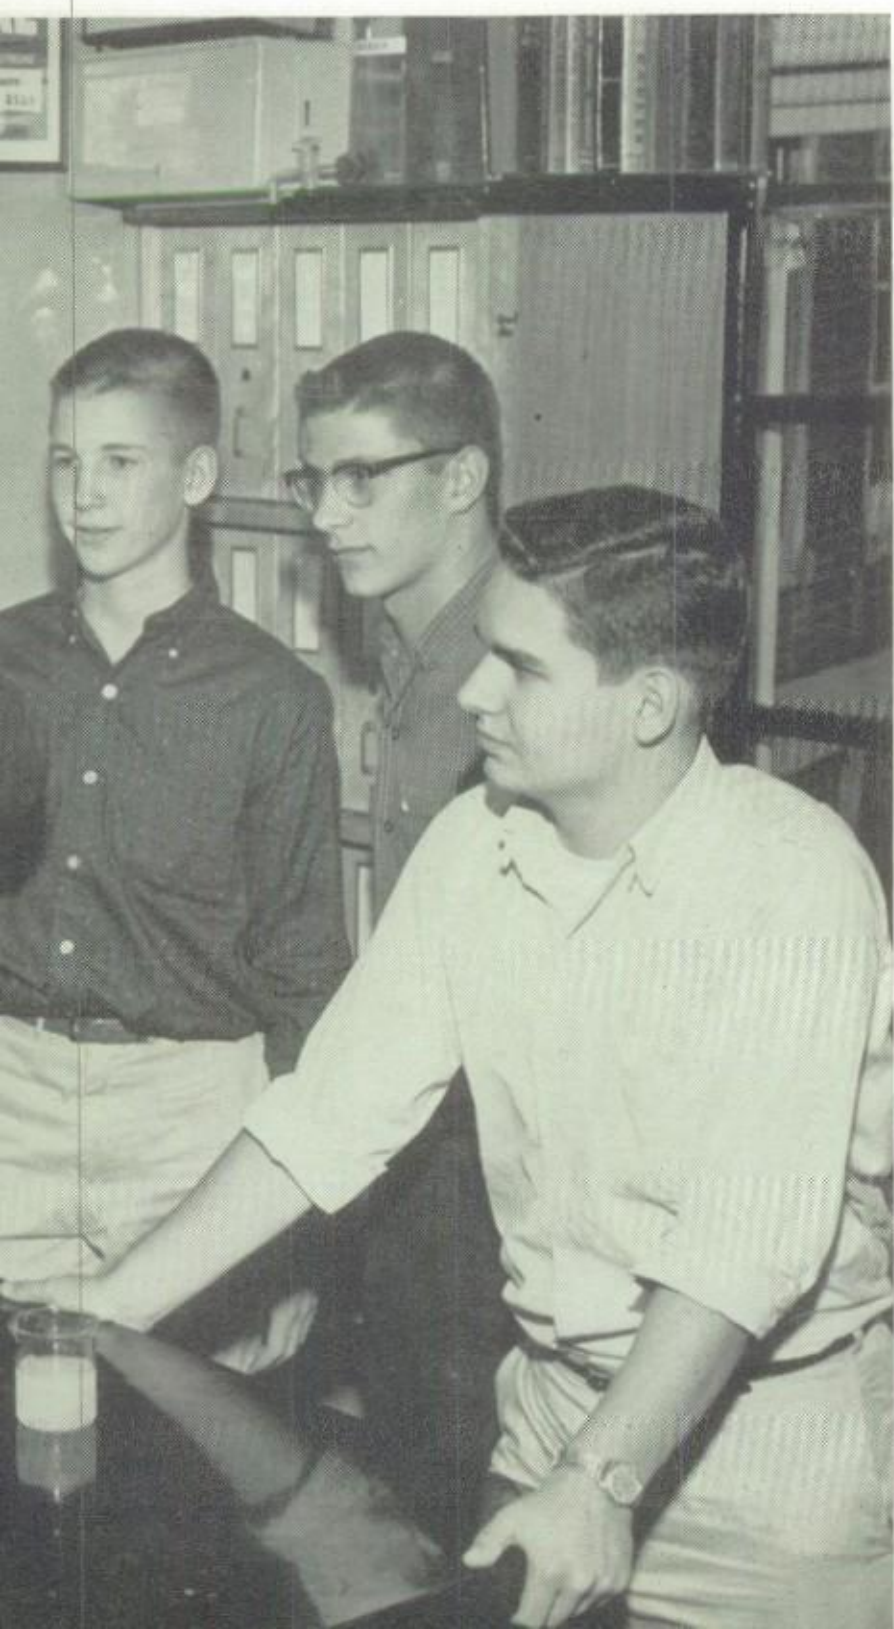

“Every moment think steadily as a Roman and a man to do what thou hast in hand with perfect and simple dignity, and feeling of affection, and freedom, and justice, and to give thyself relief from all other thoughts . . .

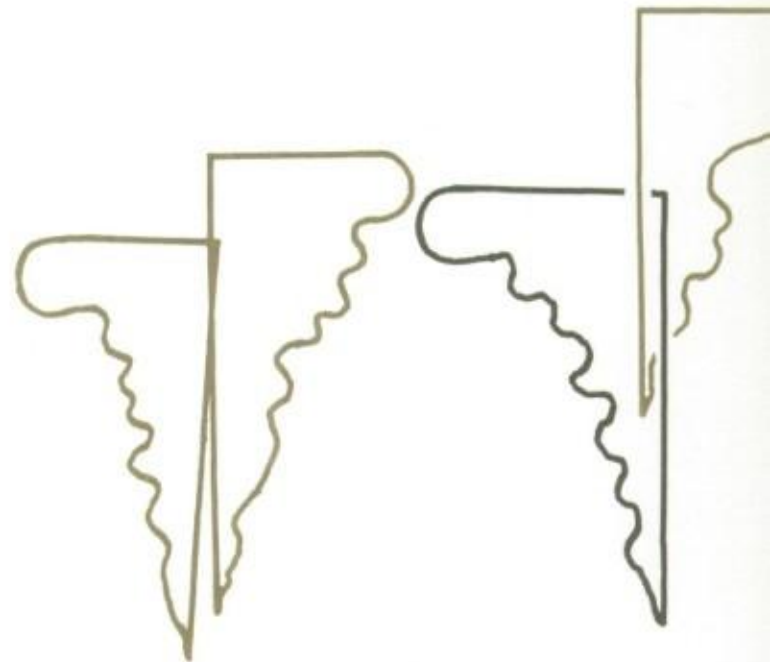

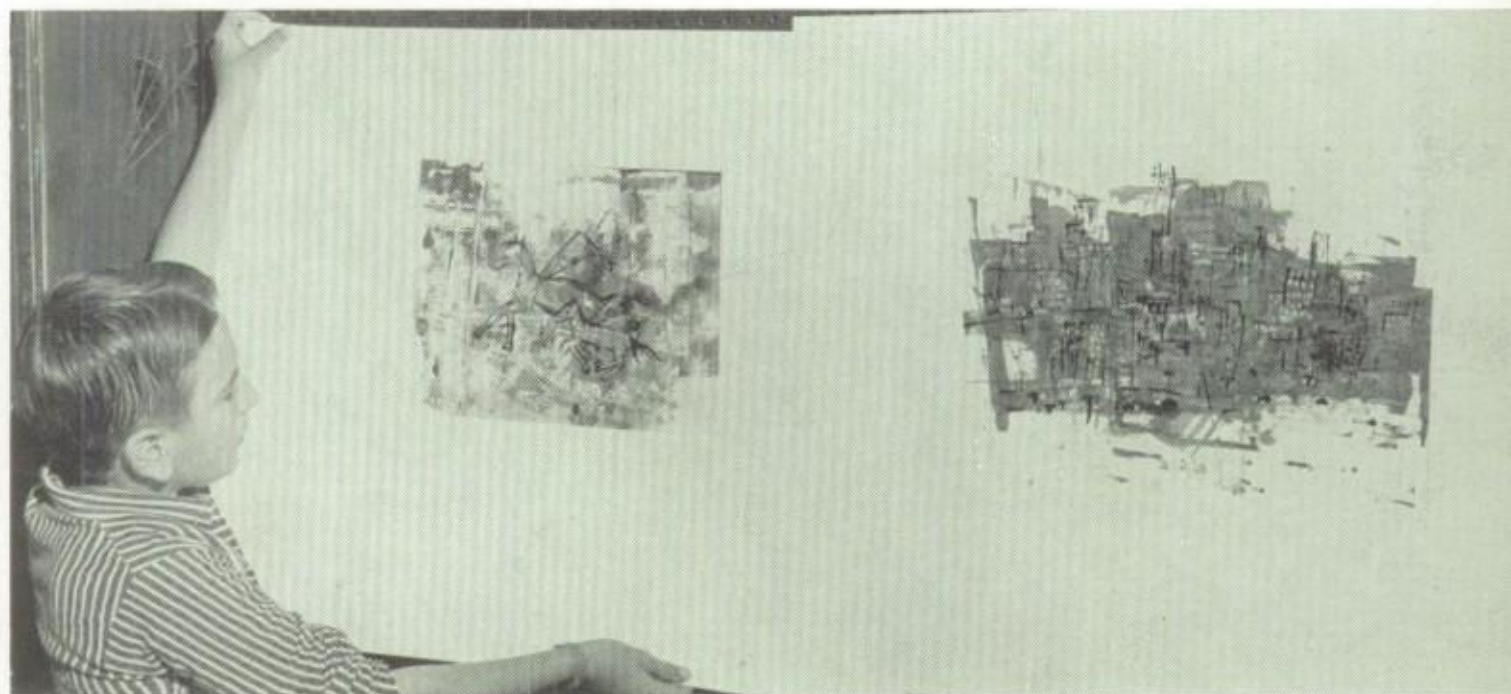

“And thou wilt give thyself relief, if thou doest every act of thy life as if it were the last, laying aside all carelessness and passionate aversion from the commands of reason and all hypocrisy and self-love and discontent with the portion which has been given to thee . . .

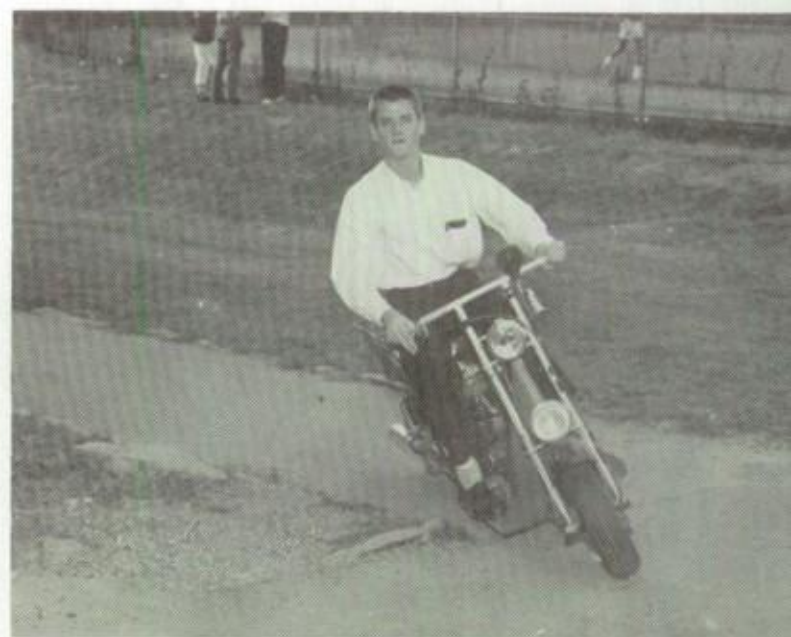

“Thou seest how few the things are, the which if a man lays hold of, he is able to live a life which flows in quiet, . . .

“And which is like the existence of the gods; for the gods on their part will require nothing more from him who observes these things.”

—Marcus Aurelius

with his family . . .

"Walnut Hills High School has been set apart . . . to concentrate its efforts to the end that it may offer a broad and thorough training, placing special emphasis on intellectual development and scholarship."

This is the second time that these words have appeared in the REMEMBRANCER. The first was in 1920, when that year's edition of the REMEMBRANCER editorialized about the school's new status and special and stated purpose. This fact is a firm tribute to the students and teachers who have preceded us here; for, in our system of free public education, we cannot for long tolerate an idea which is unworthy or a practice which is ineffective. Through the years Walnut Hills students have demonstrated the worth of the idea and the effectiveness of the practices which are combined here. In a very real sense every successful student in Walnut Hills helps to ensure that a similar opportunity for success will be waiting for a student yet to come. To the graduating class of 1961 and to their seventeen hundred fellow students I offer this thought about the unusual learning experience which we share, and, in so-doing, invite you to share also in the gratitude I feel for being a part of it.

Assistant Principals caught in conference over the Informant.

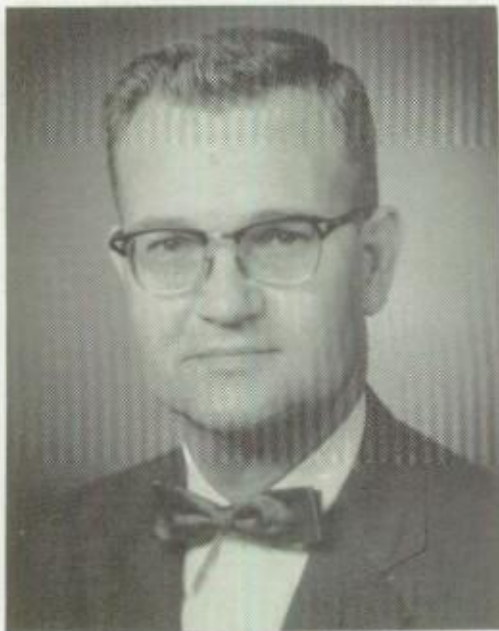

Walnut Hills has fostered an intellectual sympathy among its students, which symbolizes the vigor and value of the Walnut Hills tradition. This tradition was born, in large part, as a result of the classical nature of the school. Holding to the dignified concerns of the past, it has been accepted that the finest type of scholarship is impossible if removed from the inspiration of the Greek and Roman masters. Familiarity with the conditions of ancient life enables us to place in proper perspective the failures and successes of our modern time. As a result of these contacts with the problems of man from ancient times to the present, the graduates of 1961 may join with those of previous years in the realization that they are well prepared to meet the arduous demands soon to be placed upon them.

"Labor not unwillingly, nor without regard to the common interest, nor without due consideration, nor with distraction; nor let studied ornament set off thy thoughts, and be not either a man of many words, or busy about too many things . . . be cheerful also, and seek not external help nor the tranquility which others give. A man then must stand erect, not be kept erect by others."

The Walnuts' singing chorus and orchestra combine in a Scottish number.

Walnuts

"And the words came flowing forth . . ." from narrator Tim Isaacs.

Han Overeem, exchange student from Holland, narrates a pageant about his native land.

fireman fiddles while the house burns.

Nancy Kock and the pony chorus slink across the stage.

One of the many specialty acts in the Walnuts of '61.

WOW!

The Pony Chorus kicks up a storm . . .

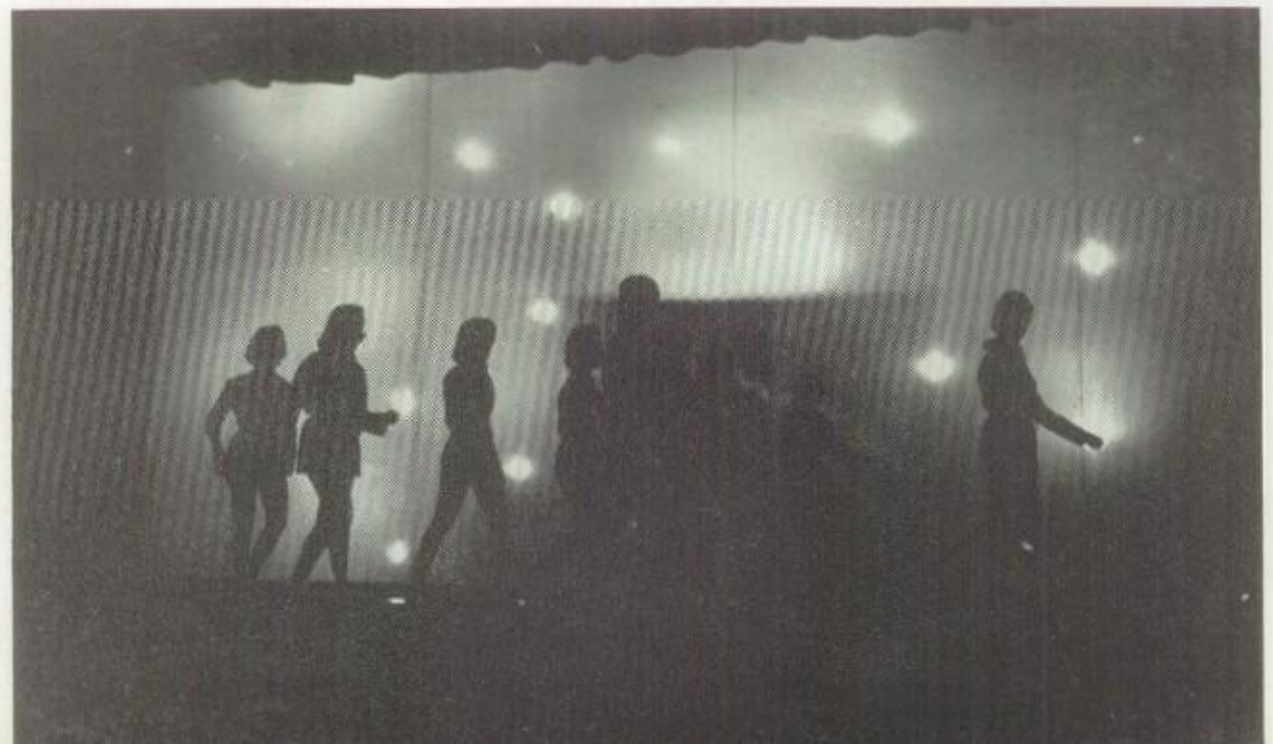

while final adjustments are made . . .

Peanuts

The continuity fills the gap . . .

for a most unusual setting, and provides comic relief . . .

ably assisted by a hilarious Horse Chorus . . .

climaxing in a well polished show.

The Choir

"Of all a god's prerogatives song is the fairest."

Orchestra

"Musical training is a more potent instrument than any other, because rhythm and harmony find their way into the inward places of the soul."

—Plato

Mr. Edgar Loar, conductor.

Looking over a difficult measure in the score are Mary Baker, Mr. Loar, Ronnie Landburg, and Linda Jonas.

The happy confusion one might see in the Band Room after an orchestra concert.

Mary Baker as soloist with the orchestra playing the de Beriot Violin Concerto.

"It is impossible, if no more than one opinion is uttered, to make choice of the best; a man is forced then to follow whatever advice may have been given him; but if opposite speeches are delivered, then choice can be exercised."

"There's a little old room in the big red school,
That goes by the book and bides by the rule,
It's got a cute little teacher and a big mess of kids,
And it's certain sooner or later you'll get poked
in the ribs,
A couple of cracked windows and a bangy water
pipe,
Only add to the confusion and a flower out seeking light,
Although we sure aren't perfect, and sometimes
a little late,
You can bet your life you'd never miss,
